of jute; and now they will be forced to turn to other activities or their employees will be thrown out of work. The Pakistani have established shuttle works and will import persimmon wood blocks from the US. Mr. believes that, due to lack of know-how, this venture in nationalism will be a failure. He states that the inexperienced native workers will injure the weaving machinery and chip the shuttles and the result will be coarse, inferior cloth. He further believes the Pakistani will be inept in the distribution of the finished jute and not always able to fulfill their commitments.
